I heard about that place by looking at recommendations around Griffintown, and it was highly recommended so I decided to try it. First off, the place is small and cozy and you can see everyone working in the back, making and baking the bagels and whatever you order so you do get an artisanal quartier vibe, which I loved. You know that if the bagels are made on the spot they are bound to be good and this statement is 100%... read more. The place also offers the possibility to sit outside and be served in beautiful weather. What Shanon Lemke doesn't like about Le Kitchen:

I wouldn't come back. I don't like the small amount of smoked salmon in their bagel, even not much cream cheese. Very disappointed. Bagel is par, soft and good chew with a crusty crust. For almost $12, I would expect much better. Takes Amex. read more. A visit to Le Kitchen becomes even more rewarding due to the extensive selection of coffee and tea specialties. For breakfast a delicious brunch is offered here.
