What User likes about By The Way:

Toronto was gifted with incredible weather for the "Family Day" weekend, unheard of to sit on patio with coat off, but this happened. Our server proudly told us that he'd been up at 5am to put out the tables and chairs so that we could enjoy the experience, which we did. This is a very popular hub, and hard to get a table if you are in a larger group. We lucked out as a two and were able to get the final table on a f... read more. The restaurant and its premises are wheelchair accessible and thus reachable with a wheelchair or physiological limitations, and there is complimentary WiFi. If the weather conditions are right, you can also have something to eat outside.

What User doesn't like about By The Way:

Omelettes here are always superb as is the French toast for breakfast, but at supper I found the tuna Nicoise average. The fish was not the best. A little dry as were the chicken kebabs. The lamb was sinewy. The Baba Ghanouj was tasty as was the salad. OK.I would always come for breakfast but supper was mediocre. read more. At By The Way in Toronto, you get a abundant brunch in the morning and you can eat as much as you want pamper, The visitors of the restaurant also appreciate the large variety of various coffee and tea specialities that the restaurant has to offer. They also offer light Mediterranean meals on the menu, visitors repeatedly praise the fine, light flatbread that can be dipped into the self-made hummus or a yoghurt dip; the unusual combination of figs and goat cheese is among the highlights from the diverse culinary landscape of the Middle East.
