refined Italian cuisine to its best. The Chief Owner knows his Italian! cooking and remarkable taste. several signed and originally created pieces. prices are pleasantly affordable for this superior quality. Service is efficient and snobistic. In short, this restaurant is perfect for a refined food. and served as if we were in a respected family. The restaurant is small and charming. but unfortunately a little noisy... read more. In nice weather you can even have something in the outdoor area. What Tú Bá doesn't like about Café Via Dante:

The pastas and antipasti were good. They also gave us extra antipasti on the house which we thought was very kind of them. Soon after we received the bill, we were shocked by how much they charge us on something that was not on the menu: $100 on antipasti alone. We understand that the waiter was trying to upsell the menu, but we were not advised on the price. And also when ordering the pasta, the waiter did not infor... read more.
