I visited this place of sushi for a professional dinner. the atmosphere is banal but the places are comfortable. for lunch, the à la carte menu is offered, but also a "lunch box" menu that includes a soup and several different types of sushi with salad. I found this option very interesting because it avoids the puzzle to choose pieces by pieces but allows a beautiful diversity. The price is very reasonable. I enjoyed... read more. The diner and its rooms are wheelchair accessible and thus usable with a wheelchair or physiological disabilities, Depending on the weather, you can also sit outside and have something. What User doesn't like about Ryoko Sushi:

The place is small and maybe dark too. The tables and chairs are outdated. The place was empty when we came, people just came to pick up their orders. The menu has no pictures, they just give you a big list of names and on the other side of the page they put a description for each item. It can take forever to read it... The downside is the food, some of the sushi we ordered were too salty and the general taste of the... read more. A visit to Ryoko Sushi becomes even more rewarding due to the comprehensive variety of coffee and tea specialties, You'll find delicious South American dishes also in the menu. The Asian fusion cuisine is likewise an important part of Ryoko Sushi. Anyone who finds the normal and generally known menus too ordinary should approach with a willingness to experiment and try some exciting combination of ingredients taste, and healthy Japanese meals are being made with lots of freshly harvested vegetables, fish and meat.
