What User likes about The Thorndyke Dining Room: We came across this restaurant in a charming inn while waiting for our play to start at the local summer theatre in Grand Bank, which is about 10 minutes away from Fortune and the ferry to St-Pierre. The hostess was warm, welcoming, and very accommodating as she settled us at our table and then hurried off to show a room to potential clients. When it rains, it pours, I guess. The dining room is comfortable and quirky... read more. In pleasant weather you can even have something in the outdoor area. What Philip_K doesn't like about The Thorndyke Dining Room:

We would have loved to eat here. From the reviews it sounds excellent, and the two ladies who run it are both charming. But alas, George, the owner and chef, was away in St Johns, and we were only in Newfoundland for two nights. So, no luck! But on our next visit, let's hope.... read more.
