I've been to this place a handful of times and it does have its issues- the hours are a little odd, staff isn't always incredibly friendly (but I've never found them to be outright rude), at the atmosphere is definitely lacking, but it comes through in the ways that are most important to me and that is that the food is good and affordable. You can get a good sized meal for two for less than $30 easily and it has alwa... read more. When the weather conditions is good you can also have something outside, And into the accessible rooms also come guests with wheelchairs or physiological disabilities. What User doesn't like about The Hideaway Cafe:

The regular menu is typical diner food, and the prices are ok (not amazing but not terrible either). However, the Indian menu (which you have to ask for) has some surprisingly good items on it. The butter chicken plate (order it with naan and rice) is tasty and really well presented. Have it with chai tea and it's an awesome lunch -- and this drink is way better and more authentic than the disgustingly sweet Starbuck'... read more. A visit to The Hideaway Cafe is particularly valuable due to the extensive diversity of coffee and tea specialties. It's worth mentioning that the original Canadian meals are well received by the customers of the establishment. If you want to have breakfast, a tasty brunch awaits you, The atmosphere also makes the consumption of typical Western dishes and drinks an unforgettable experience.
