What User likes about Le Petit Alep:

Ce resto appartient à une famille syrienne. La nourriture est excellente et ce sont surtout des mets syriens. Le service est de très bonne qualité. C'est un resto qui semble très populaire auprès des gens. On m'a dit que l'on ne peut faire de réservation car il y a toujours du monde. Son grand-frère, le Alep est situé dans la même bâtisse.

C'est plus dispendieux mais la nourriture est délicieuse. read more. In beautiful weather you can even have something in the outdoor area, And into the accessible rooms also come visitors with wheelchairs or physiological disabilities. What MrMoreLight doesn't like about Le Petit Alep:

Le Petit Alep had garnered quite a reputation and deserves some respect for being there all these years, one of the longer lasting institutions in Montreal. It might have been quite the value years ago when there was nothing else in this underserved part of the city. But the competition moved in and well, I am afraid Le Petit Alep is comparatively now more average. Don't get me wrong, this is a very good value restau... read more. You can at Le Petit Alep from Montréal try delicious vegetarian courses, in which no animal meat or fish was brought into play, Easy digestible Mediterranean dishes are also available. Sometimes you may not want to consume a lot, in this case one of the fine sandwiches, a small salad or another snack is just right, guests repeatedly praise the delicious, light flatbread that can be dipped into the self-made hummus or a yoghurt dip; the exciting combination of figs and goat cheese is among the highlights from the diverse culinary landscape of the Middle East.
