We went to chez Francois after we saw the line up at the place we had originally intended on going to for brunch.

There are four tables outside, and about five inside. The problem with the tables inside is that they are in the middle of a store. We were seated in front of a shelf of salt and pepper that people perused while we awkwardly waited for them to move on. Only three staff, who were super nice, but clearly ov... read more. When the weather is good you can also be served outside, And into the accessible spaces also come clientele with wheelchairs or physical limitations. What User doesn't like about Chez Francois:

Food is good but I expected a little more from this place. The lattes were mostly milk and although the baguette was good, I've had better. There are a few tables inside and some seating outside. They take reservations for brunch which is a plus. Service was just ok. read more.
