This is a small restaurant and seeing a line up is not unusual. But the staff move people fast by taking your order while you are lining up. You get decent portion size with good soup base. There are quite a few competitors in the neighborhood but none come close to giving you the best bang for your bucks. read more. When the weather conditions is pleasant you can also eat and drink outside. What User doesn't like about Kintaro Ramen:

Dined here recently for dinner and ordered the shiso with Cha-Shu pork. Comparing Kintaro to other ramen restaurants along Robson street I would have to say that it is not as good as Hokkaido or Danbo. The broth was just OK for my taste and the heavy reliance on bean sprouts did not appeal to me. Overall, I found the food to be below par when compared to other ramen restaurants in the area. The service was very nice... read more.
