Here you can find the menu of Matsqui Cafe in Abbotsford. At the moment, there are 15 dishes and drinks on the card. Despite mixed reviews, this breakfast spot seems to have potential. While some customers have complained about long wait times and overcooked food, others rave about the generous portions, friendly service, and reasonable prices. The outdated decor may not appeal to everyone, but the delicious eggs Benedict and homemade hash browns are worth a try. Consistency seems to be an issue, with some patrons vowing never to return while others find it the perfect spot for a weekend breakfast. Overall, this cozy diner offers a decent meal at an affordable price, making it a contender for those seeking a casual morning bite.
