We went to visit on Victoria Day so we paid $26/person for the full All You Can Eat option. The sashimi was generous and very fresh! I wasn't too fond of their fried tentacles or chicken cutlet, but their shrimp tempura and chicken karaage were done nicely. Included in their full All You Can Eat option are some sushi selections such as Octopus and Toro. However, the way it was listed on the menu, we assumed it was sa... read more. What User doesn't like about Hato Popo Restaurant:

First off, not Japanese run. Secondly, "all you can eat" is not a good sign. Besides those points I still went in. The sushi is cheap not in price and quality. If you have a craving just to fill and not looking for quality this will be your place. Beside the below average sushi, I would recommend this place to grab some beers and order a lot of appetizers, grilled and fried items. Those were yum and inexpensive and t... read more. At Hato Popo Restaurant in Vancouver you can enjoy delicious vegetarian menus, that are free from any animal meat or fish, among the delicacies of this restaurant are especially the Sushi and Te-Maki.
